Spring 2015 Online Workshops

For questions, please call (480) 965-9072.

To attend the online workshop, go to https://tutoring.asu.edu/online-tutoring at the date and time listed

All times listed are in Arizona Standard Time

How to Write a Stellar Thesis Statement

Location
Live, online through Adobe Connect. Log on link available through website at https://tutoring.asu.edu/online-tutoring under “Upcoming Events” heading

Time and Date
3:00pm-4:00pm on Sunday, February 8, 2015.

About
The thesis statement is the framework for your paper, but how do you know if it is effective or not? This workshop will review how to craft a solid thesis statement to serve as the foundation for your writing, and share strategies for identifying ways to fix thesis statements and avoid common mistakes.

Writing Effectively: A Refresher on Grammar and Sentence Structure

Location
Live, online through Adobe Connect. Log on link available through website at https://tutoring.asu.edu/online-tutoring under “Upcoming Events” heading

Time and Date
3:00pm-4:00pm on Monday, February 23, 2015.

About
We often get so caught up in producing substance in our writing that we lose sight of the basics. In this workshop, we will refresh your memory of the writing basics that are often neglected but that are important for helping you clearly communicate your points to your readers. Some of the common issues include pronoun agreement, subject-verb agreement, composing complete sentences, avoiding run-on sentences as well as comma-splices, and structuring clear sentences. This workshop will provide a refresher on some of the grammar and sentence specifics that you may have forgotten in order to help you present your work in a manner that reflects its quality.
Brainstorming and Outlining Strategies
Location
Live, online through Adobe Connect. Log on link available through website at https://tutoring.asu.edu/online-tutoring under “Upcoming Events” heading

Time and Date
3:00pm-4:00pm on Tuesday, March 3, 2015.

About
Ever sit down and to start writing, and have no idea where to begin? Brainstorming and outlining are very important, yet often overlooked, steps in the writing process. Join this workshop to review strategies and tools on brainstorming and outlining to start your writing on the right foot.

Excelling in an Online Course
Location
Live, online through Adobe Connect. Log on link available through website at https://tutoring.asu.edu/online-tutoring under “Upcoming Events” heading

Time and Date
4:00pm-5:00pm on Tuesday, March 24, 2015.

About
As a student at Arizona State University, you often have the option of taking an online course, but important differences exist between online and in-person learning. This webinar will give you the tips and tricks you need to stay organized, overcome technology issues, and successfully communicate with professors so you can focus on the content and make the most of your online course.

How to Write (and if you’re writing right)
Location
Live, online through Adobe Connect. Log on link available through website at https://tutoring.asu.edu/online-tutoring under “Upcoming Events” heading

Time and Date
6:00pm – 7:00pm on Wednesday, April 1, 2015.

About
Do all the different types of writing overwhelm you? No idea what what the basic structure for a paper should be? This workshop will review these questions and more about the basic foundations and processes for writing and to recognize areas of further growth.
Writing Effectively: Avoiding Plagiarism

Location
Live, online through Adobe Connect. Log on link available through website at https://tutoring.asu.edu/online-tutoring under “Upcoming Events” heading

Time and Date
4:00pm – 5:00pm on Monday, April 20, 2015.

About
In today’s digital world, it is very easy to plagiarize in one’s writing, whether intentionally or unintentionally, and the consequences can be severe. This workshop will explore the various forms on plagiarism can take, and how you can make sure you are using sources without plagiarizing.